

Seminar invitation

Connecting the UK's Core Cities

We are pleased to invite you to join us at an exciting and unique event, bringing together the UK Core City leaders to look at why a joined-up approach to infrastructure and investment is critical to the future success of the UK economy.

If you are interested in the future of our regional cities, this is a fantastic opportunity to listen to these leaders' future plans. Hear about what they have to say on the key investment priorities and how they need to be resourced; and listen to their views on some of the new opportunities that will be created for UK and overseas investors and developers.
